- Never bundle query responses (a query response will be returned for each subject).
- Always bundle query responses (a query response will contain all subjects bundled together).
- Only bundle query responses when querying on more than  subjects.

(For example, if the above threshold is set to 10 and a multi-name query is on ten subjects, then the system will generate ten response files, one file per subject. However, if the query is on 11 or more subjects, then the system will generate one response file with all of the subjects bundled together.)

Note:

- Response files cannot exceed 3 MB in size. If the bundled query response file is larger than 3 MB, multiple bundled response files will be generated.
- If your entity queries both NPDB and HIPDB, the query responses for each Data Bank will be returned in separate files.
- Changing this preference only affects future queries; current response files that are already processed will not change.
